Incident Report: Vanguard Shutdown

Subject: Immediate Closure of Vanguard Observatory

Date: August 2, 1978

At 2:37 AM on July 31, 1978, Vanguard Observatory's primary receiver detected an anomalous transmission of [REDACTED] origin. Initial analysis of the signal revealed repeating tonal sequences inconsistent with any known natural or artificial sources.

Despite warnings from staff, Dr. Margaret Albright initiated full-spectrum decoding of the transmission. Shortly after, personnel reported a series of auditory and visual disturbances.

Observations:

- Unidentified auditory phenomena described as "low-frequency hums" and "whispering."
- Visual anomalies: A faint, oscillating light pattern visible within the observatory dome.
- Sudden, unexplainable power surges across all equipment.

Personnel Report:

- 4:00 AM: Dr. Albright reportedly stated, "We've made contact."
- 4:22 AM: Dr. Albright vanished. Efforts to locate her within and around the facility proved futile.

Actions Taken:

- Facility was evacuated by 5:00 AM.
- Aion Foundation secured all classified materials and research.

Recommendation: Full decommissioning of the observatory.
